

Student & Educator Exhibition: ESP Summer Seminar, 2008

CREATIVE MINDS OF THE 21ST CENTURY

STATEMENT:

In the 21st Century, classroom roles have been re-mixed: students are teaching students; artists, scientists and specialists are key educational partners; learning units are thematic and project-based. Classrooms have become globalized and in place of the three "R's", we now have Literacy, Numeracy and Creativity.

In light of these developments, we invited ESP partnerships to submit student artwork and supporting documentation as an integrated package, representing a thematic unit of study that students, artists and educators explored during this past year. The unit work educators submitted could include, but was not limited to: documentation of a unit, preliminary designs & sketches, reflective writing, photo or video documentation, and the final art works. Work could be submitted from across whole classrooms, or grades.
